Memorial Day ~ Monday, May 28, 2012

The 7th annual Memorial Day event began with a solemn Memorial Commemoration at the St. John Resurrection Memorial Garden (also known as the Government Cemetery), on Ault Road. SC Combat Veterans Group performed a special tribute, and the Honorable Richland County Council Chairman Kelvin Washington of District 10 provided words of encouragement and honor. This ceremony was sponsored by the Lower Richland Veterans Formation and the J.P. Holley Funeral Home. Following, there was a procession to the historic Harriet Barber House, 116 Barberville Loop, where the Heritage Celebration continued with a family-oriented day of entertainment and fun. This event was sponsored by South East Rural Community Outreach (SERCO), with funding from the Richland County Hospitality Tax Fund and was free to the public.

Celebrating the rich cultural heritage and entrepreneurial spirit of a local family, the annual Jubilee: Festival of Heritage is held on the grounds of the historic Mann-Simons Site. Jubilee features a variety of activities including hands-on demonstrations from some of the region's artists and craftsmen, musical entertainment including African drumming, R&B, jazz and gospel, and vendors with African-influenced and traditional merchandise. Highlights of the festival also include tours of the Mann-Simons Site, African-American heritage sites tours, and many other activities.
