Historic Village of Hopkins

The Historic Village of Hopkins - - once a bustling location originally named "Hopkins Turnout" between 1836 and 1842, when the South Carolina Railroad from Charleston completed a turntable there - - came alive again for SERCO's 9th Annual Holiday Taste & Tour on December 5th. Through the 1920's, the Village of Hopkins' hub at 214 Hopkins Road, Hopkins, SC was thriving with general stores, gin mills, industries, residences and a Town Hall. Annually, SERCO takes on a labor of love to recreate an atmosphere of an old fashion holiday. This year, there was a full schedule of FREE activities for guests, including delicious FREE Food Samplings: BBQ by local chef Herbert Sims (The Friendly Caterer), Pound Cake from the Adluh Flour/Allen Brothers Mills sponsored bake-off, and Quail from locally owned Manchester Farms (cooking demo by Angela Covington, Territory Sales Manager). Guests were treated to free rides on Choo-Chee 's Santa Trackless Train and other carnival rides. Lower Richland historian, Rev. John Middleton, provided local history facts during horse-drawn carriage tours.

Guests feed-back included a comment that this year's stage entertainment was the best ever. The program host was the entertaining Eugene Burden. Performers were: Tom Coolidge (accompanied by Melissa Washburn on vocals & upright bass and Jim Graddick on fiddle), Carlos "Teddy G" Santan, Arrington Jones, Deacon Joe Davis & The Choice Gospel Singers, and Myisha Thomas. While Elvis "left the building," and the scheduled Elvis Pressley and James Brown Contest was not held, Congaree National Park's Chief of Interpretation, Scott Teodorski, surprised the audience with his talented singing and guitar playing. Hopkins' own Jesse Sumter, a widely-known James Brown professional impersonator, arrived in full costume, magnanimously greeted guests, caused a few adults to do double-takes and children loudly saying, "Hi James Brown!" There was also a local history museum, vendors for gifts and crafts, and farmers market by B&B Produce.

The goal of SERCO's 2nd annual Salvation Army Toy Drive was to "Stuff a COMET." Richland County Councilman, Kelvin Washington, D-10, once again served as our Honorary Santa, and he was joined by an Honorary Elf, Tiffany James, COMET Community Outreach Coordinator. We are grateful for the on-site news coverage by Ms. Janae Frazier from WLTX-News 19.

9TH Annual Holiday Taste & Tour

Lower Richland's own, and well-known Deacon Joe Davis and The Choice Gospel Singers gave an energetic and talent-filled performance. The groups recently celebrated their 19th Anniversary.

Tom Coolidge – One Man Band, is always a requested favorite. This time, he was accompanied by Melissa Washburn (vocals/upright bass) and Jim Graddick (fiddle).

Matthew Sumter is a talented musician and a Lower Richland High School Student.

Myisha Thomas is a talented songstress and also a comedian. She once created a Facebook video that went viral with almost a half million shares in a couple days. She uses her voice to sing her comedic lyrics about life issues most of us face – and makes us laugh!

Scott Teodorski, joined us from The Congaree National Park, where he is Chief of Interpretation. Scott sang Elvis Presley's first single release, "That's All Right (Mama)." There is talent in the Swamp!

After hearing Arrington Jones sing, Program Host Eugene Burden tried to sign her to a contract. She is just a middle school student, so he addressed her parents who were sitting in the audience.

Singer and promoter, Carlos "Teddy G" Santan rendered some soulful Christmas songs. While they had not met before, he next called Myisha to the stage for an impromptu and well-done duet.

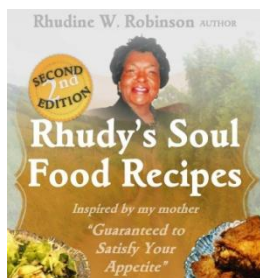

Lower Richland's own Jesse Sumter is the number one James Brown professional impersonator around. He graciously greeted the audience and some of his fans.

Town of Eastover - Annual Christmas Parade & Festival

The Town of Eastover held its 7TH Annual Christmas Parade & Festival on December 12, 2015. Marching bands, floats and Santa paraded on Main Street. Main Street. The festival featured entertainment, vendors, crafts and food. Ms. South Carolina, Daja Dial, served as the Grand Marshal. Among the elected officials present were Senator Darrell Jackson, Eastover Mayor Geraldene Robinson and Eastover Council Member Geraldene Robinson.

Congratulations to Rhudine Robinson, of Eastover, SC, on the release of Rudy's Soul Food Recipes - 2nd Edition.

Congaree National Park Visiting Team at Historic Harriet Barber House

November 18, 2015

A team from the Congaree National Park's Harpers Ferry, Virginia Design Center visited the Historic Harriet Barber House on November 18, 2015. The team is heading up the redesign of the Congaree National Park's official brochure. Mr. Scott Theodorski, Chief of Interpretation at the park, explained the team will make some needed changes that include more of a focus on cultural and historical stories of the Lower Richland area in which the park resides. Sisters Marie Barber Adams and Mary Barber Kirkland provided a tour of the Historic Harriet Barber House. SERCO and the Congaree National Park have forged a longtime partnership. Adams and Kirkland, representing SERCO's focus on the Lower Richland Heritage Corridor, also provided area information and suggestions in support of the park's public relations improvement effort.

On Saturday, November 7th, the 2015 Lower Richland Veterans Formation Chapter # 2 hosted an "all out" Veterans Day Parade & Ceremony to honor our Veterans from all branches of service. The parade began at Hopkins Middle School (1601 Clarkson Rd, Hopkins, SC) and consisted of veterans from all branches of service, marching bands, color guards, JROTC, live entertainment, veteran's motorcycle and classic cars, floats, and community leaders.

The final stop of the parade was the Saint John Holistic Wellness Center (222 JW Neal Circle, Hopkins, SC), where military veterans and their families, as well as the public, took part in a day of celebration and fun. This year's special guest speaker was Terrance "The Motivator" Garrick (Retired Colonel), and the Guest Greeter was VA Chaplain Eddie Davis. Guests were entertained by the sounds of Gospel recording artist Troy Sneed, and free lunch was provided. (Photos courtesy of A.C. Jackson).

Mr. William Posey, 90+ years old, was honored as the oldest Veteran present.

Richland County Sheriff Leon Lott , and also Brigadier General of the State Guard, and Reverend Sammy L. Wade, Director of the Lower Richland Veteran's Formation Chapter # 2.

The Lower Richland Veteran's Formation Chapter # 2 was founded by the Reverend Sammy L. Wade, Director, in 2002 and has been established to provide assistance in helping homeless veterans. This organization is dedicated to assisting veterans who may need help in the following areas.

- * Aiding veterans and their spouses in applying for compensation benefits
- * Helping veterans in obtaining their identification cards
- * Keeping veterans informed of current disability changes
- * Assisting in securing work and human services
- * Supporting deceased veteran's family members and providing representation at funerals
- * Bringing veterans throughout the Lower Richland County together
- * Receiving help from the VFW, DAV, American Legion, Military Order of the Purple Heart.

Part I : October 2ND BBQ, Blues & Jazz

RV Club members from North Carolina, Georgia, Florida and parts of the northern and low country area of South Carolina gathered again for the weekend on the historical grounds of the Harriet Barber House. Guests enjoyed reserved seating and mingled with other guests from around the midlands. The threat of rain and flooding did not dampen the spirits of those who traveled to the most popular event of the year in Hopkins.

13TH Annual

SwampFEST at the CONGAREE

October 31st

Due to the “1000 Years Flood,” the 13th Annual SwampFest at the Congaree was rescheduled and held on Saturday, October 31, 2015. SwampFest at the Congaree took place in two locations – The Congaree National Park and the “Yard” of Old Mt. Moriah. Activities will run throughout the day, offering FREE admission and a great opportunity for visitors to experience the richly diverse culture of the Lower Richland Heritage Corridor. The opening ceremony was presented by the McGrady Cadets. Artists included new performers: Atlas Road Crew (A.R.C.), the Sumter Tribe of Cheraw Indians, Melodic Hearts, and BluesBox50. Back by popular demand were the Fine Thymes String Band, Ladies of the Pickin’ Parlor, Drumming Brothers, and singers Katrina Blanding, and Jeffrey Lampkin & Frances Marion YGB Gospel Choir. Exciting new features drew audience participation: 1st ever Lower Richland All-Area Jubilee Choir, and the new SwampGong Contest. Other activities included the SwampFest Youth Art Contest, children’s carnival, wagon rides, guided tours of Congaree National Park, and food vendors.

Porgy and Bess in 2016

The 1935 opera is based on the novel Porgy by DuBose Heyward and takes place in the author's home city of Charleston, providing a rare opportunity to see this work performed in the city of its birth. Accentuating the opera's strong association with Charleston, the new production will be visually designed by artist Jonathan Green, whose vibrant depictions and knowledge of the region's Gullah culture is celebrated worldwide. Full production details and the complete 2016 program will be announced on January 3, 2016. The 2016 Festival takes place May 27 – June 12. Tickets will go on sale in January.
